

THE LATE MR. BAIRD OF FORTHAM, was found in their residence at that place. Justice Spradly held them for trial.

BURGLED.—A German wood-carver named Florence Myers, alias Miles, was arrested yesterday morning, by the Fifthward Ward Police, having in his possession a quantity of plated forks and spoons, a writing desk and other property, which proved to have been stolen from the premises of Mr. J. Higgins, N. E. 272 Elizabeth street. Myers had broken into the house from a rear, forcing open the basement window, and let himself out by the front door. Jash. "Puschan" had committed him for the felony.

HORSE THIEF.—Ten Twelfth Ward Police last Saturday arrested Will. Soman on suspicion of horse stealing. He had in his possession a valuable horse which he said he bought for $10. Subsequently Mr. Hitecheek of Williamsbridge appeared and claimed the animal, which had been stolen from his stable the night previous. Mr. Soman was thereupon detained on a charge of horse stealing.

RESCUED.—Patrick Helligan walked into the North Street about 10 o'clock yesterday morning, from the pier foot of the Fifth Ward. He had been once brought a course of policemen to his aid, and he was seasonably landed on terra firma.

PAINT FAULT.—Coroner Schirmer held an inquest on Monday upon the body of Patrick McGuire, a native of Ireland 40 years of age, who died from injuries received a few days ago by falling off a scaffold while engaged in erecting a Fourth avenue. It appeared that he had lost his footing and while reaching forward to recover it, he lost his balance and fell backward to the pavement. He resided in 10th street near Fourth avenue. The Coroner's Jury rendered a verdict of accidental death.

REV. MR. SPURGEON.
To the Editor of The N. Y. Tribune.

SIR: IN THE TRIBUNE of this day you have copied an article from The Boston Journal in relation to the Rev. S. A. Corey and the Rev. C. H. Spurgeon. The statements in that article, so far as they reflect on Mr. Corey, were given to me by word I then regarded as unquestionable authority. But I am now satisfied that the article does Mr. Corey great injustice, and I hasten to ask you in THE TRIBUNE to place the matter right.

So far as the bullying of churches reflects on Mr. C., he should have praise and not blame. And the removal from the First-avenue Church was made necessary by the fact that that house was not suitable for

A word in regard to Mr. Spurgeon. He preaches to the poor of the Old World. His labors are Herculean. He is now engaged in the erection of a large church; but, to this, he relies on contributions from friends outside of his own charge. He preaches constantly in England and Scotland; gives one-half of the proceeds for benevolent purposes, and devotes the other half to the erection of his new Tabernacle.

He will no doubt visit this country in the Spring. And ere great object of that visit will be to enable the benevolent of America to aid him in his great work of home. The visit will cost him all kind of private speculation. The money consorted with his yet it will, in part, be specially devoted to that great erection in London, and in part to aid the cause of Christ among the poor in our land. Neither Mr. Spurgeon nor Mr. Carey will be interested in one dollar of the proceeds.

Mr. Carey took with him to Europe letters from most of the highest standing of various sects in New-York, and in a worded way when the arrangement should be made public, it will reflect the highest credit on all concerned, be approved by the full Christian heart of New-York, and entitle the great English preacher to that warm and genial welcome that will await him on his arrival in the New-World.

negative proof of the chemical battery which is applied to this with, possibly comes from the surface of stratum, which are almost in the degree of nearly healthy deposits to parts where more needed. Disposed nature is well attaining after healthy supplies, and is the effort to purify the skin.

The alternating between these two baths will therefore seem to possess great advantage in scrofulous diseases, and in all complaints connected with or dependent upon impurities of the skin.

Articles to the same end are given by the mouth, by emesis and by induction in crochets to breathe to break up the system, and break the skin, and restore tone and freedom of action to the air passages. In some cases of lung disease medicated oils are used, and they are used on removal from the second bath to break up night sweats, and to keep up a continued stimulation from the absorbents of the skin; an object of essential consideration in diseases of the skin.

These together are valuable auxiliaries to the peculiar stimulation of cold baths and the invigoration of Metopatepate treatment, which last produces the desired effect, and gives strength and vitality to the whole system, and keeps the system free from disease, but building up the constitution and making it a life long benefactor in the diseases of the skin.
